Situational Awareness: Why, When and How

See the below resource for information on the situational awareness color code first developed by the late Col. Jeff Cooper, founder of Gunsite Academy in AZ. Each color represents a state of alertness as we live out our lives. The "state" or level of awareness you are in has and will have a direct impact on how you will be able to respond to a threat and survive. Make sure you know these levels and work on increasing your situation awareness skills daily.
